Re: Notification about sales prices

In reference to our previous letter of January 2004, and considering that the economic, political, and social situation has not changed much for the better over the course of the year, we believe that we should once again send a message of stability and security to all our customers.

Therefore, we hereby confirm that our company will maintain the prices of its products unchanged for 2005 as well .

We are sure this will be appreciated, and we send you our best regards.
